

They are controlled exceptions, so they extend the Exception class

Needs to be thrown when an IOException gets thrown by a networking function

Needs to be throw when a database query fails