

The View class represent the interaction screen between the user and the application

The ViewState class is the one that needs to implement the interaction code between the user and the application. It can be Headless or GUI configuration